

"The Ottawa Spotlight"

By Wilfrid Eggleston

Ottawa, May 11—Any day now we may have an announcement that the royal commission has been appointed to delve into the present set-up of Confederation.

Before the prime minister left for London he and his colleagues agreed upon the broad lines of the inquiry. It may be that an eminent economist from overseas will be chosen as chairman of the commission.

Many people shy away from discussions of constitutional matters, and they may be; but this one can be set forth in the simplest of terms.

This commission is being appointed because the provinces say they are heading toward bankruptcy; they cannot carry their present burden without new sources of revenue.

That this is no idle alarm is evident from the situation in which the prairie provinces have found themselves. Alberta has actually defaulted on its bond obligations. Only the willingness of Saskatchewan to agree to federal terms and of Manitoba to loan from the federal treasury saved that province from a similar fate.

Manitoba has been tottering on the edge of a collapse for some time. Of course it was the depression which brought the matter to a head, but a number of the provinces had even restoration of better times won't solve the problem completely, that it goes deeper than that.

BANK ADVISED A PROBLEM

The economic enquiry made by the Bank of Canada into the affairs of the prairie provinces came to the conclusion that there were grave economic stresses in the present arrangement and that it would be well if a royal commission went into the matter thoroughly and advised the Dominion and provincial governments what to do.

Put into the simplest possible form the argument is that: the provinces were deprived, in 1867, of the power of levying certain types of taxation, and of printing money.

They have since found themselves obligated to make numerous new kinds of expenditures, never contemplated in the British North America Act, and they need a 'new deal'.

Before 1867 the individual provinces were able to collect taxes and pay their duties, and other indirect taxes. They agreed to give up this right, in exchange for annual subsidies.

When the constitution was written, the provinces were authorized to collect direct taxes, that is, taxes taken from the individual.

The inference was that the Dominion would confine itself to indirect taxes, and leave the individual tax to the province.

This the Dominion did, pretty well until the war years. Then, hard pressed for revenue, they began to collect personal income tax, which is certain by a direct tax.

The provinces got along fairly well until a few years ago, although the sums they received from Dominion subsidies did not begin to approach what the Dominion Government has been collecting from indirect taxation. The total sum distributed last year on provincial subsidies was only about $14,000,000, whereas the federal collections from indirect taxation were about $280,000,000.

The provinces have found themselves responsible for social legislation, a large share of unemployment relief, for mothers' allowances and workmen's compensation, for a share of old age pensions, for education and numerous other matters.

A Critical Stage

They have reached the point—some of them at least—where they cannot possibly continue to meet their obligations without some relief in the way of additional tax fields, or some lifting of their obligations.

This fact has been recognized for some time. In a sort of retaliation for the invasion of their own tax fields by the Dominion, the provinces have for years levied what are pretty close to 'indirect taxes', in apparent violation of the law.

In 1926 the Dominion government prepared an amendment to the B. N. A. Act which would have ratified these borderline taxes on gasoline, amusements, etc. But the Senate killed it.

The above broadly speaking, indicates the major task of the new commission.

DEATH OF ANDREW HALL

The late Andrew Hall was born in Scotland within a few days of the birth of the late King George V, of which co-incidence Mr. Hall was rather proud. He later spent several years in New Zealand, coming to Canada in 1908 and located on the farm where he has resided continuously up to his death Tuesday.

Mr. Hall had been Chairman of the Orange Valley School for a number of years.

Monday he was feeling wheat. Tuesday evening about 7 o'clock he passed suddenly but peacefully. He had no known relatives in Canada, but was highly esteemed by his neighbors and acquaintances generally. The funeral was held Friday, Rev. V. M. Gilbert officiating, with Chas. & Co. Funeral Directors in charge.

Burial services were held at the Gray, Stanley Kerek, Walter Ridson, Harry Groves and Arthur Petersen. Interment in Strathmore cemetery.

The Convention of Celebrations Committee regret to announce that owing to the great demand for commemorative medals it will be impossible, as was intended, to present the medal to children attending Strathmore School, and other children living in town, on Coronation Day. The Committee is, however, promised that the medals will arrive in time to be presented on 24th May, Victoria Day, and a public holiday.

The pupils then followed the band to Hirtle's Theatre where a free show was given them and an ice cream treat.

The eminent Shakespeare said: "What is a Name?" A rose by any other name would smell as sweet; but there are occasions when that name does not hold good, our sponges to the great land.

There are times when a name, place one akin to royalty, as this week when our little town of Strathmore put on a proud name and claims precedence over any other town or city in Alberta. Acting on this unique situation our Mayor and Council sent the following telegram to the Earl and Countess of Strathmore, Scotland early Wednesday and Thursday morning received this reply.

Right Honorable Earl of Strathmore, Glamis Castle, Scotland.

The Town of Strathmore, in far off Alberta offer heartiest congratulations to the Earl and Countess of Strathmore on the 12th day of May, 1937, a memorable day in the history of the Empire.

Mayor & Councilors, Strathmore, Alberta, Canada.

The Mayor, Strathmore, Alberta.

RESULTS TALK

Politics for some reason or another fail to interest the average person much—until they strike home. From Albertan has produced a particular brand of politics into Alberta that strikes home, especially to those whom he promised to help most.

Any time Alberta's farmers know pretty well where he stands as far as his debts are concerned. That is, he knows as much as anybody about it.

Just this, instead of paying $200 per year, and having eventually to meet the payment of his principal of $2500, John this fall (1937) will pay only $125.00 interest. And his principal has been reduced to $212.50, down $486, which he is paying off at five per cent per year.

And he isn't buying away nights wondering if the courts will change the whole thing either. He has a new mortgage which is legal, signed by his company and himself, and it calls for six per cent interest instead of eight, and the reduced principal is written into it. In fact, the old mortgage for $2500 at eight per cent is torn up and probably in ashes somewhere.

THE PEOPLE'S LEAGUE

Calgary—Interested citizens from urban and rural sections and a large number of members from the Grand Theatre, Calgary, last Friday evening when the People's League of Alberta held its first public meeting in the city.

The meeting under chairmanship of Fred E. Osborne, was addressed by Dr. J. S. McEachern, J. S. Jones, Chas. Keating and H. G. Scott, former city police magistrate.

Mr. Scott, in the course of his remarks, pointed out the League was simply an organization concerned with promotion of sound business government. "We offer," he said, "neither a revolution nor a party job. We offer to the more fortunately situated an opportunity for public service and for those in need of a helping hand to help themselves."

WEDDINGS

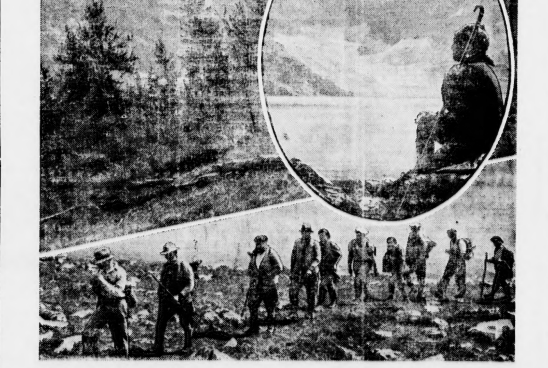

GARRIOTT—SHERMAN

The home of the bride's sister Mrs. George Wanner of Acadia Valley, Alta was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Tuesday of last week at 11 a.m. when Harry Morris Garriott, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Garriott of Strathmore was united in marriage to Edith Sherman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Sherman of Calgary.

The bride who came in on the arm of her father, was beautifully attired in light blue silk net over tulle and carried pink roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Ruby Garriott wore light green organdy and carried yellow roses.

The groom was supported by the bride's oldest brother, Mr. Peter Sherman, Jr. and the wedding march was played by the bride's youngest brother, Mr. Hilbert Sherman.

The bride and groom left on a honeymoon for Spokane and upon their return will reside in Calgary.

Peter Wiggo, prominent Banff tourist whose paintings grace many drawing rooms in Canada and the United States, will lead the Sky Line Trail Hikers of the Canadian Rockies on a most interesting four-day holiday this year to Larch Valley near beautiful Moraine Lake and the Valley of the Ten Peaks.

Plans have been completed for the annual outing, from August 6 to 9, of this unique organization which seeks out the loveliest spots in the Tindian Rockies and spends four healthy, happy days on Shook's near the trail, the valley, alpine meadows, and rocky country above the timberline.

While hiking is a popular sport, the Sky Line Trail Hikers of the Canadian Rockies will spend their official four-day outing in leisurely jaunts through this particularly interesting country. On the closing evening they will have a pot-pourri and ciction of officers.

Don't miss the big dance in the Memorial Hall, May 24. Watch for posters.

The trend of public opinion toward sympathy with the unions is one of the most remarkable features of the industrial upheaval of 1934-37. Time was, and not long ago, when the biggest obstacle which labor confronted was an indifferent public which was more likely to turn untriflingly than sympathetic toward the strikers. Strikes of long duration would interrupt production and services, and inconvenience the public. Violence might result, and though this was usually the result of the introduction of strike-breakers and other mercenaries, strikers would be blamed. Paradoxically, the use of the Sit-down has changed this situation for although it frequently involves forcible seizure of the plant, the seizure is so undertaken that the temptation to use violence is lodged with the employer rather than with the strikers. But even this paradox explains only a little of the change in public feeling. More important is the fact that there is a very widespread belief in this country that the worker deserves a larger share of the fruits of industry, that he has a right to join with his fellows—unimpeded by company unions—to bargain for it, and that if denied this right he is justified in taking strong measures. To whatever the growth of this belief may be ascribed, it is a present fact and one which employers would do wisely to take into account.

GEORGE VI FRIENDSHIP PROMOTER

A Key to the outlook of the man who is about to be crowned ruler of the world's greatest empire may well lie in the story of the principal pet hobby of George VI. It is a boys' camp in Southwold, an experiment in social service which the King maintains at his expense.

This is no ordinary vacation camp. An idea motivates it. The plan is to bring together a number of British public school boys—from Eton, Harrow, and other well known schools—and a group of youngsters from the industrial districts. These associate at the yearly camping holiday, taking part in games and all sorts of activities.

We have been fortunate to secure a favorable Market for our Eggs, and we are in a position to pay a much better price to our Shippers. We will pay for Grade A 17¢ per dozen, Grade B 14¢ per dozen, Grade C 12¢ per dozen. We will advance 10¢ per dozen and pay the balance as soon as Canded.

Our Eggs are Canded by expert Candler and our customers can rely on getting the right Grade and fresh.
